

Florence Crittenton
Where Hope Comes to Life

Monday, April 03, 2006
Press Release
For Immediate Release
For More Information, Contact:

Lory Lasica
(602) 288-4589
llasica@flocrit.org

Barbara Barrett and Actress, Jane Seymour Teamed Up for Kids at Top Valley Event

PHOENIX—Community and government leader, Barbara Barrett and actress, Jane Seymour headlined a benefit luncheon for Valley non-profit organization, Florence Crittenton on Friday, March 24th at The Phoenician. Titled Teaming Up For Kids!, the luncheon welcomed 750 guests and raised nearly $481,000 in support of Florence Crittenton's programs and services. Guests were delighted to an amazing array of both silent and live auction items, as well as an inspiring message from a young woman who successfully transitioned out of Florence Crittenton's residential group home program.

The program was emceed by CNN's Christi Paul and included an award presentation to Barbara Barrett, who received Florence Crittenton's HOPE Award in recognition of her philanthropic endeavors on behalf of Arizona's children and families in need.

Following the award presentation, keynote speaker, Jane Seymour and emcee, Christi Paul engaged in a "fireside chat", where they discussed topics such as Jane's remarkable acting career, her work as both an artist and author, as well as how she has triumphed over several life challenges and used them as a force for positive change.

Florence Crittenton is a 109-year-old non-profit organization that builds strong families, healthy teens and self-sufficient young adults through education, counseling, a safe haven for girls and social support. For more information, please call 602-274-7318 or visit www.florencecrittentonofaz.org.